WHO WE ARE

HRDI, a subsidiary of Friend Health (HRDI) is a community behavioral health center that provides a comprehensive array of prevention, intervention and treatment services to address various mental health, substance use, and community health concerns.

Anchored on Chicago's South Side, HRDI clinics have provided support to underserved communities since 1974. We use evidenced based (as well as evidenced informed) models of care to empower individuals, families and communities to improve their quality of life, regardless of their ability to pay.

HRDI was founded by Dr. C. Vincent Bakeman and Doris M. Lomax partially in response to a lack of adequate and culturally appropriate treatment options on the south side of Chicago.

Recognizing the importance of treating the whole person, and the need to integrate behavioral and primary healthcare, to better serve communities' health needs, Human Resources Development Institute, Inc. merged with Friend Family Health Center in December 2017, as a subsidiary. In May 2019 the merged entity rebranded as Friend Health, and HRDI, a subsidiary of Friend Health respectively.

(Intake will provide specific location)
HRDI offers 24-hour supervised residential facility for both men, as well as women addicted to alcohol and other drugs. The women's program allows both pregnant, as well as parenting women (can accommodate up to 10 dependent children ages 0-4) Additionally, we also offer separate 24-hour supervised residential placement for persons lived experience of mental health challenges. We can accommodate both men and women at different locations on the South side of Chicago. Placement does require participation in a HRDI program, and is subject to availability.
